THIRTY-FOURTH YEAR NO. 24.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1911.

PRICE, $1.00 A YEAR

FIFTEENTH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT.

The Fifteenth Annual Commencement of Cedarville College opened last Sabbath with the baccalaureate sermon in the Reformed Presbyterian church by Rev. David McKinney, D. D., President. His text was Ps. cxix. 28, "I will run the way of thy commandments, when thou shalt enlarge my heart."

Cross Night on Monday evening was the favorite as usual, the play, "For Old Eli" being well put on by the members and a number of other students. Individual mention is unnecessary in that all proved "head liners."

Tuesday evening the faculty reception to the Seniors was attended by about 150 persons, including students, alumni and friends of the college. A Springfield Orchestra furnished music for the evening. The decorations were the class colors and refreshments were served.

The Ivy Day exercises were held on the College Campus on Wednesday afternoon at which time the honeysuckle was planted. The spade was presented by the class president, R. W. Ustick and the speech of acceptance was delivered by D. S. Morgan of the Juniors.

FLORENCE J. WILLIAMSON, A. B.

Wednesday evening the Musical Recital was held in the R. P. church the class being under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Russell. The house was well filled and all highly appreciated the twenty-three numbers. Chorus work, solos and instrumental music composed the various numbers.

The commencement exercises were held Friday morning in the opera house, but two members of the class delivering orations, Miss Florence Williamson and Mr. R. W. Ustick. The former spoke on "The West Wind" and the latter, "The Pioneers of Progress." Rev. Levi Gilbert, D. D., LL.D., editor of the Western Christian Advocate, of Cincinnati, was the class day orator and spoke on: "Higher Education." The address was probably the best ever delivered here on such an occasion.

There were ten graduates, four from the graduate department and six from the collegiate. Those who received the degree of Master of Arts were: Anna Alberta Crowell, Ralph John Hill, Prof. E. M. Reynolds, Edward B. Shaw. Those who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts were: Martha A. Stormont, Josephine Orr, John Orr Stewart, Jr., Lydia Eleanor Turnbull, Robert Woodbridge Tuttle and Florence Jane Williamson.

The Gleebook Annual containing eighty-two pages and artistically illustrated in one of finest annuals ever gotten out by the students. The articles are of a high order and a complete history of the college year. The price is fifty cents and there should be a large sale. The staff of editors, Dwight Morgan, P. D. Dixon, Fred Marshall and Edward P. Howell, are to be congratulated. The Herald is obligated to the Glee-book for the use of the half tone illustrations.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees Wednesday O. E. Brodfute and N. L. Ramsey were chosen as members to serve three years and take places vacated by the late H. H. McMillan and N. L. Parks, of Cincinnati. Mr. A. Y. Ried of Cincinnati was chosen president.

Ladies Want Ponds Oiled.

A petition has been circulated for funds to purchase oil to put on the various ponds in this vicinity in the hope of killing the mosquitoes. The township trustees as well as the township board of health will be asked to co-operate.

At a meeting of the trustees Monday evening it was expected that the deed for one acre of land next to the cemetery south of town would be turned over by Andrew Bros., who had agreed to sell an acre for $250 or 1/4 of an acre for $150. However the deal fell through by Andrew Bros. backing out of the agreement.

The cemetery is owned by the township and there are no more burial places and the trustees are forced to secure more ground. They may purchase in another location or condemn the Andrew land as they are empowered under the law. They could probably condemn the land and not have to pay over $125 per acre and the owners have to stand the costs.

Largest Woman Buried Tuesday.

Probably the largest woman in the county, Mrs. Jane Shingledecker Young, aged 83 years, and weighing 347 pounds, was buried Tuesday afternoon in the cemetery north of town. Death relieved her suffering Monday after an illness of several weeks.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. E. Putt, from the residence Tuesday afternoon. There was no family other than the husband, Isaac Young.

Owing to the size of the deceased it was necessary to remove the door frame and door of the residence before the casket could be taken out. The width of the casket was 29 inches, depth 34 1/2 and length 6 feet. It was necessary for Undertaker Barr to provide eight handles for the casket.

DEATH OF MRS. RUTH TARBOX.

Mrs. Ruth Tarbox, daughter of David Jackson and Nancy Nichols, and a native of Belmont county, but for many years a resident in this community, died Tuesday evening after enduring a long suffering. About five years ago she suffered a broken hip and was able to be about only by the aid of others. Until recently she enjoyed good health for one of her age but dry gangrene developed in her limb and blood poisoning hastened the end.

The deceased was the widow of Samuel N. Tarbox, whose death occurred thirteen years ago. She was aged 85 years, 5 months and 8 days and lived in this county all her life with the exception of one year. In her declining years she made her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Foley. Besides Mrs. Foley the deceased is survived by Harry Tarbox of Findlay, Frank Tarbox of Xenia and David N. Tarbox of this place.

Early in life Mrs. Tarbox united with the United Presbyterian church and has been a devoted Christian woman. The funeral took place from the United Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon, the services being conducted by the pastor Rev. J. S. E. McMichael. Burial took place at the Tarbox cemetery in sight of the old home.

Lewis' Record In Legislature.

The Columbus Citizen last Thursday gives the record of each member of the legislature as to how they stood on measures that were of interest to the people.

It will be interesting to those who extolled James E. Lewis' political virtues previous to the election to know how the Citizen classed him. "James E. Lewis, Republican, Greene county, Stradler and Duker, seldom for the people."

Following on Saturday the Enquirer carried a dispatch stating that Greene county's "misrepresentative" was the guest of the traction magnet and lobbyist, Schoof, with a party of legislators on a tour of the company's lines over the state.

Politicians know what such entertainment means, particularly coming from a man of Mr. Schoof's standing, who would want the people of the state to send men of the Lewis brand to the legislature forever.

If the people of the state were in closer touch with their senators and representatives and really knew of the "misshapen" that were elected to legislate, it would astonish them to know that the state house still stands and that the little squirrel, that inhabits the state house grounds, still has his freedom and didn't fall into the clutches of the money changers.

Reception For Dr. R. H. Hume.

Rev. R. H. Hume of the United Presbyterian church, Springfield, is the oldest pastor in that city in point of service, having completed nineteen years of faithful service as a pastor. In recognition of his active service the congregation last week tendered him a reception.

The Daily News editorially speaks of Dr. Hume as follows:

"Dr. Hume is one of Springfield's foremost men. He is beloved by the whole people. He has stood before countless audiences, of his own people and of people of every creed and of no creed."

"He has pleaded for mercy toward the poor and down-trodden, for charity for the cold and hungry, for kindness for the beasts of burden, the force of his very being has been thrown into his years of appeal for right, for justice for fair-dealing between man and man. He has been the gospel of love rightly interpreted. Love of fellow man radiates from his face is emphasized by his words and proved by his works."

"It is no wonder that fifty thousand people refuse to let the United Presbyterian congregation claim him for their own. He has ministered none the less effectively to the members of his church because he has lived an active citizen of Springfield, that his own congregation should quietly tender him a reception to mark the passage of another year in this notable ministry."

Springfield Horse Show.

A party of Springfielders, among whom were Fred Green, the traction magnet, Warren Alexander of the clothing firm of Kredel & Alexander, Hugh McCullough, the well known harness maker, were out advertising the Springfield Horse Show, June 20, 21 and 22, Tuesday.

This event has for several years been eagerly waited for by lovers of good horses. The gentlemen in charge promise that the show this year will exceed that of former years and will be second to none other than the Madison Square Show in New York.

The party toured this section as guests of Mr. Alexander who is trying out his new Oldsmobile touring car.

Mr. E. L. Sterrett, who is visiting relatives here, is engaged in the real estate business in Seattle and speaks very highly of that city and the business that is being done there. When asked as to the possible effect of reciprocity and how Seattle people considered it, Mr. Sterrett stated that there is much opposition to the measure, the various interests in city and the state in general feeling that Canadian products coming into this country will be injurious. Border states and cities will no doubt feel the effect of Canadian markets to a far greater extent than the Middle and Southern states.

The freedom of this paper will be placed to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

COUNCIL HOLDS REGULAR MEETING.

Council met Monday evening in regular session at which time the usual routine of business was transacted.

The proposed contract for incandescent electric lighting for the streets was read and laid upon the table as no price was specified by the company and at least five lights were required. Council only wanted one light and decided that the finances would not stand for five. A resolution was passed to continue the all night service of electric lights until the first of the year.

Reports were read and approved and the regular monthly bills allowed. Council also discussed the matter of the side walk along the C. W. Dean, Mrs. A. C. McMillan and W. J. Smith properties. Some time ago a proposition was made the property holders that council would put down cement walks if the owners would grant enough frontage to straighten the line on west Chillicothe street. It was reported that one of the property owners objected to granting as much frontage as was required.

Council passed the levy ordinance and 13 mills was the total, one mill more than the present year. The general fund 2 1/2 mills; safety, 8; service, 7; health, 1/2. Although the new one percent tax bill was passed by the legislature and is now in force for 1912 taxation, council asked for all it could get. Under the law the total cannot be over ten mills in the county so far as the taxing boards are concerned.

Mayor Dodds, of the largest municipality in the county, County

LYDIA ELEANOR TURNBULL, A. B.

Auditor Dean and Prosecuting Attorney Johnson, from what is known as the budget commission in the county to divide the levy among the councils, trustees, school boards and county commissioners.

While Cedarville will not be assessed more than the ten mills by the commission there is an extra three mills for electric light that was voted by the people and is not subject to limitation under the new law. If the commission levies the ten mills for all purposes the corporation will have a total of 13 mills. Dr. J. O. Stewart as nominated to represent council when the commission meets and look after the corporation's interests.

Frank Phillips, formerly a resident of this place but of late residing in Xenia, died Wednesday at the age of 86 years, suffering with catarrh of the stomach. Besides his wife, daughter and step daughter, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Phillips, three sisters, Mrs. Minnie Hill of Chicago, Mrs. E. J. Smith and Mrs. Lizzie Morrow of Springfield and a brother Wm. Phillips of Xenia. Funeral services from the home Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johnson and daughters and Mrs. Louis Gilbert attended the marriage of the latter's son, Mr. Ralph Gilbert, to Miss Vannie Westlake, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Westlake of South Charleston, Wednesday. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, at three o'clock, by Rev. Gibson, assisted by Rev. Gaddis. The bride and groom left for a trip along the lakes. The groom is a member of the lumber firm of Gilbert Bros. and is one of the prominent young business men of that place.

Twin daughters arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Smith Monday and in consequence Mr. Smith has been receiving the congratulations of his many friends. While Mr. Smith may have had plans for an extensive summer vacation along some watering place or across country tour with his touring car, it is a safe prediction that with three daughters his time will be fully occupied between the Exchange Bank and home.

Men of Today Recognize the Value of Good Clothes

And by "good clothes" we mean that inconspicuous type—devoid of frills—but perfect in drape and fit—that gives to a man an air of substantiality. Flashy clothes have no place in a business or professional man's wardrobe any more than they have on the K. & A. clothes tables.

The Kredel & Alexander type that has gained the solid approbation of "men of affairs" in the refinement of simplicity. That expresses it! The type you will see in the more exclusive clubs and executive offices of financial and industrial institutions.

Bonano

IS SIMPLY INCOMPARABLE

Do not compare BONANO with coffee, tea or chocolate, because it is incomparably better. Why should you prefer other drinks to BONANO; the clean, sanitary drink?

You know how clean and good the pulp or meat of a banana is when peeled,—no dust, no dirt, no worms. This pulp is dried, granulated and roasted. No drugs, no flavoring, except the delicious flavor imparted to it by nature in the process of roasting.

BONANO is not picked like the coffee berry and handled by countless and contaminated with dust and dirt; it is not picked and rolled by hand as are the tea leaves of China and Japan.

It is just the clean, pure wholesome meat of the best of fruits, peeled, dried, granulated and roasted in a sanitary manner by machinery. It is as good as it is pure.

Try BONANO and enjoy its tempting aroma, its fruity, fragrant flavor.

It strengthens and nourishes while it refreshes.

Packed only in dust proof-cans and sold for 25 cents, you get seventy-five cups of the cleanest, best and most economical drink, simply incomparable.

OAT SMUT

Can Be Prevented by Treating Seed With Formalin Solution.

BY GEO. LIVINGSTON, Agricultural Extension Department, Ohio State University.

The loose smut on oats can be prevented by treating the seed oats, before seeding, with a formalin solution. Take a pound of formalin (formaldehyde 40 per cent), dissolve it in fifty gallons of water, spread the oats out on a clean floor, and wet them thoroughly with the solution, using about three quarts to a gallon for each bushel of the grain. The work can be done easily and thoroughly if one person shovels the oats over while another applies the solution with a spritzing can. Then pile the oats up in a pile or in a long rack, cover over with carpets or blankets to retain the fumes from the formalin, and allow to remain for two or three hours or even over night. Then spread the grain out to dry before seeding. The oats should not be returned to the same bags unless they have been treated with the solution, as they may contain spores that will again infect the oats. The drill box also should be sprayed with the solution.

CARE OF THE DRY COW.

The dairy cow is the hardest worked of all our domestic animals. Every year she gives from five to ten times her weight in milk, containing as much actual dry matter as do the bodies of two or three steers. When we consider that it requires approximately the same amount of energy to produce twenty pounds of milk as it does to plow one acre of land, we get a conception of the enormous amount of work the cow does.

To produce well, the cow must be carefully fed. The annual loss to dairymen and farmers resulting from feeding an unsuitable or insufficient ration is quite large. One of the common mistakes is to neglect the cow late in lactation, for the amount of feed required at that time can not be gauged entirely by the milk flow. A cow should be turned dry six or eight weeks before freshening. But just because she is not giving milk, is no sign that she does not need food. The common practice of feeding the dry cow on straw and corn stover is a very bad one. She requires food not only to maintain her own body and restore her strength and vigor, but also to complete the development of the calf. As the animal body is made up almost entirely of protein, feeds rich in protein should be fed at this time. If sufficient protein is not supplied in the feed, the cow will use the tissues of her own body to build up the foetus. Then at calving time she will be poor and weak and in poor condition to start on her year's work, and will not produce nearly as well as though she had been given the proper care and allowed to store up strength, vigor and fat to use after freshening.

During a year's work the digestive system of the cow is severely taxed. Between the time of drying off and coming fresh this should be given a rest, not by the starvation method, but by the choice of soft easily digested feeds that have a laxative effect. In the summer time nothing is better than the pasture grasses. However, as it is usually managed on most farms, the cows freshen at a period when good pasture is not available. In such a case succulent feeds, such as beets or corn silage, fed with clover or alfalfa hay and a suitable grain ration, form an excellent substitute for grass. The grain should consist of easily digested grain foods, such as oat meal, bran and ground oats. At present prices, oats should have a place in the ration of every dairy cow. Corn should be fed sparingly.

As the time for freshening draws near, the cow should be carefully watched and care taken that she does not become constipated. If there is such a tendency, a good purgative such as Glauber's salts or linseed oil should be given. At this time the cow should not be exposed to cold draughts or given ice water to drink. It will pay to take the chill from the water at this time, if at no other. A few days before calving the grain ration should be cut down to a pound or two of bran or ground oats, mixed in a mash with a half pound of oil meal. For the first feed after calving, a warm mash of ground oats is very desirable.

E. F. RINEHART, Agricultural Extension Department, Ohio State University.

It is estimated that a flock of 50 hens, when laying freely, will drink from four to eight quarts of water a day, depending upon conditions. A clean, fresh water supply is one of the essentials to successful poultry raising.

The flanks and udders of cows should be clipped in order to facilitate the cleaning of these parts before milking.

Properly cared for the horses should have after the day's work and there will be less trouble from sore shins, etc. Also see that the collars fit.

GREAT EMERGENCY SALE!

Starts Saturday, June 10, at 8:30 A. M.

We have seized the opportunity to unload an unusually heavy stock while the season is still on—before it is Too Late. OUR VALUE KEY MUST UNLOCK YOUR PURSE. At the beginning of the season—OUR ENTHUSIASM said—we must have an unusual assortment, now NECESSITY SAYS—WE MUST UNLOAD.

How It All Happened!

Mercantile calculations upset. Bad weather conditions have certainly been a great hindrance to active trading. Realizing the seriousness of carrying over large stocks—the tying up of capital which means loss in itself—we realize the business sense of rather CUTTING PRICES to the QUICK than to wait and undoubtedly lose more. Hence we start OUR GREAT EMERGENCY SALE, SATURDAY, JUNE 10th. Our entire new, lately bought stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Hats and Furnishings—will be offered for 10 DAYS ONLY, at COST and BELOW.
